Practical Information about Geneva

Geneva is a global city located at the heart of Europe, renowned for its picturesque setting on the shores of Lake Geneva, surrounded by the Alps and Jura mountains. Known as a hub for international diplomacy, it hosts numerous international organizations, making it a center for global governance and cooperation.

The city boasts a rich history, diverse culture, and offers a high quality of life. With a population of around 200,000, Geneva is a relatively small city, but it has a cosmopolitan atmosphere, with over 40% of residents being non-Swiss nationals. This international flavor is reflected in its wide range of restaurants, cultural events, and institutions.

Geneva is also famous for its beautiful parks, museums, and proximity to outdoor activities, including hiking in the summer and skiing in the winter. The city is safe, walkable, and offers efficient public transportation, making it easy to explore during your stay. We recommend you visit Parc de la Perle du Lac, located 3 minutes' walk from WMO Headquarters, a scenic and tranquil park known for its stunning lake views and beautifully maintained green spaces.

Languages in Geneva

Geneva is a multicultural city where multiple languages are spoken due to its international character and status as a hub for global organizations. The official language of Geneva is French, which is widely used in government, education, and daily life. However, English is also commonly spoken. Additionally, German and Italian, Switzerland's other official languages, are spoken by some residents, reflecting the country's linguistic diversity.

When traveling in French-speaking areas like Geneva, it's useful to know a few basic French words and phrases.

Common greetings include "Bonjour" (hello) and "Bonsoir" (good evening).

To say thank you, you can use "Merci," while "S'il vous plaît" means please.

For polite interactions, "Excusez-moi" (excuse me) is handy when navigating crowded spaces or asking for help.

If you need directions or help, "Où est...?" (Where is...?) followed by a location is useful.

These basics can go a long way in making your travels more comfortable!

Time Zone

Geneva operates on Central European Time (CET), which is UTC +1. During daylight saving time (late March to late October), the city follows Central European Summer Time (CEST), which is UTC +2.

Weather in Geneva

Geneva experiences a temperate climate with significant seasonal variation. Depending on the time of year, you may encounter the following conditions:

Spring (March - May): Temperatures range from 8°C to 15°C. Light rain is common, so packing an umbrella and light jacket is recommended.

Summer (June - August): Warm temperatures between 20°C and 30°C. Light, breathable clothing is advised.

Autumn (September - November): Cooler temperatures from 10°C to 18°C. You'll need a jacket, and expect occasional rain.

Winter (December - February): Cold temperatures from 0°C to 7°C. A heavy coat and warm clothing are essential, as snow is possible.

For the most accurate weather forecast during your stay, we recommend checking online weather services closer to your travel date.

Currency

The official currency of Switzerland is the Swiss Franc (CHF). Major credit and debit cards are widely accepted. ATMs are readily available throughout the city and accept most international cards for cash withdrawals.

As of October 2024, here are the approximate exchange rates for the Swiss Franc (CHF) against major currencies:

As there are no ticket machines in the city buses, you are supposed to buy your ticket at the station before the vehicle comes.
